CLAREMONT — A city detective surprised a man burglarizing a home here Monday and shot the intruder when they confronted each other at gunpoint inside the house, authorities reported.

The wounded man, Jesse Manuel Apodaca, 27, 1128 W. 10th St., Pomona, was hit in the right hand by a .38-caliber bullet which traveled upward into his wrist. He was treated at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and transferred to the jail ward of County-USC Medical Center.

A second man, George Charles Baltierra, 25, 622 Blanchard Ave., Claremont, was arrested later as he drove at Base Line Ave. Road and Forbes Avenue. He was accused of being Apodaca's accomplice.

Police gave this account:

A neighbor called Monday shortly after 10 a.m., saying a white sedan had been cruising Forbes Avenue and she had seen it stop and a man get out and walk to the home at 3044 Forbes Ave., the Robert Bryson residence.

Detective Ted K. Whitall and Officer George Dynes went there although the location was in unincorporated territory, and found a sliding glass door at the rear had been forced open. The policemen entered, Whitall armed with his service revolver and Dynes with a shotgun.

As they inspected the house quietly

home burglary suspect

they found the bedroom chest had been ransacked and noticed a television set had been placed near the front door. Also, camera equipment had been piled in the den, apparently ready to be removed.

When Whitall moved to the pantry-area of the kitchen, he found Apodaca there and ordered him to "freeze." But the startled Apodaca turned quickly, pointing a revolver at Whitall's middle. The officer fired.

Apodaca ran into the kitchen and out of sight as Whitall and Dynes moved to watch the exits. They ordered the man out. At first, he refused, asking if they wouldn't let him go. But in a few moments he tossed out his revolver and followed it.

Apodaca's gun was fully loaded and cocked. Whitall said he heard it being cocked when Apodaca turned to face him in the pantry.

Investigators said Apodaca admitted he was a heroin addict who had taken his last injection at 5 that morning.

Sheriff's Sgt. Patrick Shields of the San Dimas Station is handling the case.

He said Apodaca is wanted in Pomona on robbery charges and booked him on suspicion of burglary, robbery and assault on a policeman as well as for being under the influence of narcotics. Baltierra was booked on suspicion of burglary and on narcotics charges.

Israeli jets bomb in Egypt, Syria

By United Press International

Israeli planes attacked the Syrian army and air force headquarters half a mile from downtown Damascus today in the first such strike against a Middle East capital in the war which erupted Saturday. But Israel admitted hard going on the Suez Canal and Golan Heights fronts where Egypt and Syria claimed sweeping successes.

Air Raid sirens sounded two alerts in Cairo today as Israeli planes struck nearby airports, but there was no sound of hostile action in the Egyptian capital or of planes overhead. The first 15-minute alert came at 7:20 a.m., the second five-minute alert at 7:35 p.m. They were the first air raid alerts of the four-day-old war.

Israel also hit Syrian oil refineries and power plants, two Egyptian air fields and a Lebanese radar station, military communiques reported. The strike was the first against Lebanon, which has not entered the war. Beirut reported heavy damages and Damascus reported civilian casualties there and in Homs, 100 miles north of Damascus.

Israeli military officials who began issuing optimistic statements on Monday began backtracking today and said "the struggle facing us will not be an easy one." Observers in Beirut said the war was likely to be a protracted one, not a swift walkover as in the 1967 six-day war.

"It is clear that Israel has been waging and is waging some of the fiercest battles in its history," a correspondent of Israel's National Radio reported from the Suez front where the Israeli commander said the Egyptians were fighting fiercely to hang on.

Most reports of the fighting came from official spokesmen in Tel Aviv and in the various Arab capitals. So far Western newsmen have not been allowed to visit the actual battlefields for first hand reporting.

Egyptian military communiques said Egyptian forces driving from the Gulf of Suez advanced nine miles into the Israeli-occupied Sinai Peninsula today and fought a sea battle with Israeli warships off the northern coast. Both sides claimed victories in the naval battle.

A communique broadcast by Cairo radio said the Egyptian thrust in the Sinai, advancing all along the 102-mile front, destroyed "all" Israeli positions, sent Israeli forces in retreat and captured hundreds of prisoners, including an Israeli armored brigade commander.

A later military communique reported a fierce battle between Egyptian and Israeli vessels in the Mediterranean. It said the Egyptians sank nine Israeli launches and shot down five helicopters accompanying them, with three Egyptian vessels hit.

Israel reported its naval vessels sank three Egyptian missile boats in the Mediterranean off the Nile Delta and escaped after the attack. Israel also reported damaging Egyptian gunboats in the Gulf of Suez.

An Israeli military command announcement said that while ground fighting swirled on two fronts, Israeli pilots reported "good hits" from their noon (6 a.m. EDT) strikes against the Syrian military headquarters. The command said the raid also hit oil refineries and power stations near homes in northern Syria.

Witnesses in Damascus said the Israeli strike destroyed at least 10 buildings but the Syrian command said Syrian planes drove off the six attacking Phantom jets and shot down four of them. Syria also reported three more Israeli planes downed in other strikes. So far Syria has claimed more than 100 Israeli planes destroyed.

Israel said the strikes at the "strategic targets" were ordered after Syrian gunners targeted Israeli settlements in the occupied Golan Heights with long-range rockets, each capable of traveling 44 miles with 1,100-pound warheads.

Israel said the Lebanese radar station on a mountain peak was being used by the Syrian air force. The Lebanese Ministry of Defense reported heavy damage and said nine Lebanese soldiers were wounded.

Mobile home fire kills 8 Ohio children

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (UPI) — Eight children were killed early today in an explosion and fire at a mobile home in nearby Jerry City, authorities said.

George Loomis, fire chief at Jerry City, a community of 500 located about 10 miles south of this northwestern Ohio city, said the victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Trevina.

The parents do maintenance work at Bowling Green State University and were not at home at the time, authorities said.

Fire officials at first said nine children died in the fire. They changed the total to eight, however, after the bodies were removed to a funeral home.

Mrs. Myrtle Trumbull, a neighbor, gave the first call on the fire at 5:30 a.m. (EDT), after she said she heard an explosion.

Mrs. Trumbull, wife of a Jerry City fireman, said she heard the children running through the mobile home as if they were attempting to get out.

There were two doors in the trailer. Firemen went to the one in the rear at first and found it jammed. By the time they got into the trailer all the children were dead.

Court rejects appeals

No review on obscenity rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court rejected today a number of requests to reconsider last June's rulings establishing a new definition of obscenity.

The revised guidelines were designed to give states more leeway for cracking down on pornographic books and "adult" theaters.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger wrote a series of opinions on various legal phases of the subject for a five-man majority. Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall dissented.

The court rejected the petitions for rehearing without comment.

Citing a California case involving the sale of a sexually oriented book, the American Library Association said the opinions "permit the imposition of censorship functions on libraries and librarians which would fundamentally change their traditional role in support of intellectual freedom..."

"...The librarian may rightly conclude that the court has priced intellectual freedom out of the marketplace of ideas," the petition for rehearing said.

The losing party in another California case informed the court that state tribunals have since come to contrary positions on obscenity cases and the state Supreme Court "has refused to authoritatively construe its own penal statute."

Attorneys for two adult theaters in Atlanta said the opinions left state courts "in a quandary" as to disposition of the cases sent back for further proceedings.

The petition listed nine instances since Burger handed down his opinions on June 21 where books have been burned or seized or arrests have been made for selling such publications as Playboy.

"These very things to which we point have had and threaten to have the effect of causing a 'chilling of speech' and inducing self-censorship, which will stifle artistic expression and creativity for the future," the petition said.

The court rejected the requests without comment.

Rain goes away; clouds linger on

Cloudy and cool weather will continue through Wednesday throughout the Pomona Valley with a warming trend forecast for the later part of the week.

A storm that brought .02 of an inch of rain to Pomona Sunday night and Monday morning has now moved into Arizona, leaving only a "slim possibility of any more rain," according to Jim Christopherson, forecaster for the National Weather Service.

There is a good chance of fog Wednesday morning but the forecaster said skies should clear by afternoon throughout the valley area. A warming trend should continue throughout the rest of the week.

Today's high should reach 71 degrees and 76 degrees Wednesday. Monday's high was a cool 69 degrees and this morning's low was 50 degrees.

Panel to probe Demo doings

GOP spy, a government employee, explains how he got info on Muskie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former FBI agent told the Senate Watergate committee today how he arranged last year, while on the federal government payroll, to spy on Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's presidential campaign headquarters.

John R. Buckley, 53, testified that he was director of the inspection division of the Office of Economic Opportunity when he hired a cab driver to volunteer as a courier for Muskie and then arranged to photograph documents the cabby carried from Muskie's downtown Washington headquarters to his Senate office.

Buckley said his superiors at the OEO knew nothing of his clandestine activities. He said he was recruited for the job by Ken Rietz, who headed the Young Voters For Nixon division of the Committee to Re-elect the President (CRP).

Buckley said he personally developed the film and turned it over every nine or 10 days at street corner meetings first with Rietz and later with a man known to him as "Ed Warren." Buckley said he subsequently learned "Ed Warren" was Ed Howard Hunt, an organizer of the CRP campaign of political espionage.

Buckley said he spent $8,000 on the Muskie spy operation, most of it paid to the cabby, Elmer Wyatt. Buckley asked that he not be required to mention Wyatts name because "he is of advanced age and has been ill," but the request was refused.

At a closed meeting prior to this morning's public session, the committee voted to hear testimony from Frank Mankiewicz, a top official of George S. McGovern's campaign, and the manager of Muskie's campaign, Berl I. Bernhard, on Thursday.

Republican staff members of the committee have previously questioned Mankiewicz and other figures in the McGovern and Muskie organizations as part of an effort to turn the hearings away from the investigation of GOP sabotage activities of Democrats to focus on possible questionable tactics by Democrats toward Republicans.

Watergate committee queries Rebozo on Hughes donation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate Watergate committee investigator has questioned Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo about reports he was a conduit for $100,000 in cash contributions to President Nixon from billionaire Howard Hughes, it was disclosed today.

Sen Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., told reporters he would like to have both Rebozo, one of Nixon's closest friends, and Hughes, the recluse who has not been seen in public in two decades, called to testify before the committee.

Terry Lenzen, a committee investigator, interviewed Rebozo in Florida this week, committee sources said.

Under investigation is a report by a former Hughes aide that Richard Danner, an agent of Hughes, gave Rebozo $100,000 in two installments of $50,000 each — all in $100 bills in 1969 and 1970.

Lenzen interviewed Danner in Las Vegas, committee aides said. They said Rebozo's bank records had been subpoenaed. He is head of a bank at Key Biscayne, Fla.

Rebozo was characterized as being cooperative when interviewed by Lenzen but there were no details on what he had to say.

There have been unsuccessful attempts in the past to subpoena Hughes before congressional panels.

Sadat risking all on hope of Arab nations' support

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, after a series of disappointments in U.S. peace efforts in the Middle East, decided last March that renewal of the war with Israel was inevitable and began preparing for it. He struck after receiving assurances that the Arab oil producing nations would throw their economic and diplomatic weight in his side.

An analysis

It was on March 28 that he declared himself military governor with powers equivalent to martial law.

He envisioned a relatively limited offensive, hoping at least to hold on to small gains either in the Golan Heights or along Suez until international pressures forced an end to the fighting either through the United Nations or the big powers.

This, of course, is hindsight based only upon the external evidence including reports from United Nations observers that it was the Egyptians and Syrians who struck first in coordinated attacks.

Despite the glowing reports of Arab communiques and the unanimous support declared by other Arab nations, there were other indications the Arabs themselves had severe doubts that Sadat's gamble would pay off.

Conspicuously on the sidelines of the fighting was Jordan's King Hussein, who has said he would not join in a new fight with Israel unless he was

Fulbright urges military aid for Israel in peace proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., has proposed a Middle East peace settlement including American military support for Israel if that country is overwhelmingly attacked.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, outlined the proposal Monday at a "Pacem in Terris" conference sponsored by the

Fryer starts fire

POMONA — An over-heated deep fryer at the Jack In The Box, 2517 N. Towne Ave., caused a fire early this morning that resulted in heavy heat and smoke and damage throughout the structure.

Firemen estimated the loss at $3,000.

convinced of a 50 per cent chance of victory.

President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia promised troops to aid in the fighting but declared openly he feared for the results because "I know the strength of Israel."

Even the Egyptian foreign minister, Mohammed H. el-Zayyat replied "frankly, no," when asked if he felt certain of Egyptian victory.

Lending pressure upon Sadat for action was the impatience of young officers in the Egyptian army, of unrest among Egyptian students and dissatisfaction among the population with mounting inflation and the high cost of paying for a war that went nowhere.

When Sadat announced on July 18, 1972, that he had ordered Soviet forces out of Egypt he hoped the result would be pressure from the United States on Israel for some sort of reciprocal action. It was not forthcoming.

It seems probable the last straw fell on July 26, 1973, when the United States vetoed a resolution in the U.N. Security Council which would have called upon Israel to withdraw unequivocally from the occupied Arab lands.

The U.S. position has been that any Israeli withdrawal must be in conformity to Israeli security needs.

It seems probably also that Sadat had decided time was not on his side as the Israelis steadily went ahead with development of the Gaza strip and areas of the Sinai with projects of a permanent nature.

Militarily the situation is obscured by heavy censorship on both sides.

Four slain at dude ranch

Teen killer suspect hunted

HELMVILLE, Mont. (UPI) — Law enforcement officers set highway checkpoints along the rugged Continental Divide today in their search for a heavily armed teen-ager suspected of killing four persons at a dude ranch.

Sheriff's deputies said Roger Caryl, 17, who liked to be called "Tex McCord" after a fabled 19th Century bandit, was carrying several weapons including a 7mm rifle which "could blow a man's head off at 500 yards."

Montana Highway Patrolmen, deputies and Fish and Game Department wardens were stationed every two miles along a north-south road between U.S. 12 and Montana 200 in the manhunt.

Sheriff David Collings said Caryl is suspected of killing the four persons Sunday, possibly because he was ordered to bury a dog he had shot to death. The youth was employed at the dude ranch where the killings took place.

Collings said Caryl first shot Samuel Atkins, 42, and his son, Steven, 18, with whom he shared a cabin at the White-tail Ranch. Then, according to the officer, he killed the manager, John Miller, 23, and the cook, Ruby Judd, 62.

Witnesses who scattered when the violence erupted told investigators that Caryl told his victims: "I have a few hellos for you" and "Here's a hello for you," then blasted them with a shotgun.

Deputies said Caryl spent the night after the shooting in an unoccupied ranchhouse near this small southwest Montana community. They said he severed telephone lines there.

Planes and tracking dogs were pressed into service in the search.

Caryl, an Eagle Scout, came to Montana in August after leaving his home in Decatur, Ill.

His father, James, 49, a mechanic at a farm implement manufacturing firm, told reporters at Decatur: "If they have to shoot him, they'll just have to, I hope they get him before he hurts anyone else."

"Everytime the phone rings we hope that we'll get word that they've caught him."

Kissinger calls for joint action by U.S., Soviets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger urged the Soviet Union to play a responsible role in helping to halt the Arab-Israeli fighting in the Middle East.

At the same time, Kissinger emphasized that the relaxation of U.S.-Moscow relations is of paramount importtance, and should not be sacrificed by disagreement with Soviet policy on immigration of Russian Jews to Israel.

Failure to grant Moscow most-favored-nation trade concessions because of its immigration policy might cause the Soviet Union to end the existing detente and revert to Cold War policies, Kissinger said.

The secretary made these points Monday in an address to the "Pacem in Terris" conference sponsored by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

"Our policy with respect to detente is clear: We shall resist aggressive foreign policy. Detente cannot survive irresponsibility in any area, including the Middle East," Kissinger said.

Kissinger, who was heckled by several youths objecting to his role in U.S. Vietnam policy, did not mention directly the current fighting in the Middle East. He said only "We meet at a time when renewed conflict in the Middle East. He said only "We meet at a time when renewed conflict in the Middle East is always precarious and never to be taken for granted."

He criticized Congress for introducing legislation that would deny most-favored-nation status to any nation that restricts emigration, clearly aimed at the Soviet Union. It has passed the House Ways and Means Committee and is likely to be approved by Congress.

"The demand that Moscow modify its domestic policy as a precondition for most-favored-nation treatment or detente was never made while we were negotiating," Kissinger said. "Now it is inserted after both sides have carefully shaped an overall mosaic. Thus it raises questions about our entire bilateral relationship."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Washington, sponsor of the legislation, issued a statement critical of Kissinger's comments.

"The secretary must know that he can't give away what the Congress has not authorized him to give away," Jackson said.

Business urges end to wage, price controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) have jointly urged President Nixon to immediately end wage-price controls.

In a joint letter, NAM president E. Douglas Kenna and the chamber's chief executive officer, Arch N. Booth, Monday urged Nixon to "end the entire wage-price control program promptly, without prior notice, and without sector-by-sector phase-out."

They argued that the controls, imposed by the administration in an attempt to curb inflation, had created "shortages and distortions which add to inflationary pressures and prevent business from effectively providing the goods and services needed by our society."

The controls also have "damaged our trade relations and threatened to undermine our competitive positions abroad," they said.

The letter urged Nixon to fight inflation "by striking at its basic causes, principally excessive government spending, which in turn encourages overexpansion of the money supply, and through other anti-inflationary initiatives."

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Comedian Red Skelton, 60, and Lothian Toland, 35, a freelance photographer, were married Monday in a simple, single-ring ceremony at the First Unitarian Church.

It was the third marriage for Skelton and the first for Miss Toland, daughter of Hollywood cinematographer Gregg Toland. She wore a floor length pink chiffon dress and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Baby in paternity suit left at studio

CULVER CITY, Calif. (UPI) — A baby that was the cause of a paternity suit against actor Chad Everett of the television series "Medical Center" was left at the entrance to MGM studios, reportedly with a note telling him to take care of it, police said Monday.

Actress Sheila Scott, who has also appeared on "Medical Center," filed a paternity suit against Everett, alleging he fathered her son, Dale, born May 25. After five days of testimony last month, the judge dismissed the jury and ruled that Everett was not the father.

The infant was left near a guard shack at a studio gate Friday.

Police said an associate of Everett's confirmed that the abandoned baby was the subject of the paternity suit. The infant was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Jew buys Hitler car for $176,000

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) — A businessman from Missouri paid $176,000 Monday for one of Adolf Hitler's touring cars.

Thirty-three-year-old Robert Pass of St. Louis, who is Jewish, said he plans to display the car across the country and donate the proceeds to Jewish charities. Three-inch metal swastikas adorn the front fenders.

He bought the car from Earl Clark, a Lancaster tourist executive, who bought it for $153,000 in Scottsdale, Ariz., last January. Bidding on the Hitler black Mercedes-Benz started at $50,000 and was over in 15 to 20 minutes.

Knievel crashes; multiple injuries

KAUKAUNA, Wis. (UPI) — Evel Knievel, the motorcycle daredevil, was reported in satisfactory condition today after suffering multiple injuries in a 'cycle crash this weekend.

Knievel and his motorcycle crashed on the down ramp after completing a jump over 10 cars and three trucks lined up side by side. Doctors said he suffered possible injuries to the kidney as well as numerous cuts and bruises.

Despite his injuries, Knievel managed to get to a trackside microphone before being taken to the hospital. He told the 6,000 onlookers, "I am too tough to die."

Desert sites recommended for nuclear power plants

PASADENA (UPI) — The southern deserts are a better place for California's nuclear power plants than the coast, an environmental report from Cal Tech said Monday.

The arid reaches of San Bernardino and Riverside counties were particularly singled out.

To date, the coast has been considered the best place to locate nuclear power stations because they require large amounts of water for cooling.

Dr. Martin Goldsmith, deputy director of Cal Tech's Environmental Quality Laboratory, said in the report that the need for energy will force the construction of more power plants and most of them will probably be nuclear.

But suitable sites along the coastline are extremely limited, he warned.

"Of the original 1,072 miles of California coastline, 512 miles were excluded by the seismic (earthquake) criterion and an additional 344 miles were considered too close to population," the report said.

Other considerations, such as park lands, brought the conclusion that "only 52 miles of coast suitable for nuclear power plant construction remain," the report said.

But of the 52 miles left, most of it is in the far northern part of the state, too removed from the heavily populated areas where the electricity is needed, he said.

A recent study on the same topic by the Rand Corp. came to a similar conclusion, the Rand study winding up with a figure of 55 miles of coastline suitable for nuclear power plants.)

The only two really promising coastal sites, the Cal Tech report said, are in northern San Diego County near the present San Onofre Nuclear Power Stations, and in San Luis Obispo County near the Diablo Canyon Generating Plant.

"With the limited availability of suitable coastal siting areas, and growing concern for coastline preservation, it is likely that inland areas offer a better opportunity for expeditious site selection and licensing," the report said.

There are "great areas" of suitable land in Riverside and San Bernardino county deserts, he said, along with the Tulare Basin region of the southern San Joaquin Valley, the Sacramento Valley, western Stanislaus County and the Imperial Valley.

Desert sites are both "technically and economically feasible," the report said.

The report included a statement by Frank Clinton, general manager of the Metropolitan Water District, saying that the state water project could deliver enough water "to meet the needs of these desert power plants."

Goldsmith said reclaimed irrigation water and sewage could be considered as a source of coolant, or the need reduced by construction of cooling towers several hundred feet tall, to act as gigantic radiators.

He noted however that such towers already in use stand as high as 400 feet and "dwarf the nuclear plant and dominate the landscape"—which might provoke some people to oppose their construction as eyesores.

San Dimas Council moves to silence dogs at night

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — The City Council put the bite on dog owners Monday night by increasing the impound fees for stray dogs and taking steps to hush up dogs that bark between the hours of 10 p.m. and 7 a.m.

The council directed City Atty. Norman Oliver to prepare an urgency ordinance that will give the Humane Society or the police the legal right to go on the dog owners property and remove animals whose barking is considered to be a nuisance during those hours.

The proposed ordinance will work on a complaint basis and is similar to an ordinance regulating dogs in the City of Pomona.

At the request of Bruce Richards, director of the Pomona Valley Humane Society, the council also granted the society an increase in the impound fee for picking up stray dogs to $15 for the first offense and $25 for the second. Richards said the fee now for the first offense is $6 but it costs the society $12.66 to pick up one stray dog.

Richards appeared before the council to settle the question of whether dogs should be confined in an enclosure during the night. He said that the cities of Pomona, Claremont, La Verne and San Dimas all have a section to their animal ordinance that requires that dogs be kept in a shelter.

He said in some cases this is a screened-in patio where the dog can look through the screen and bark at every "falling leaf." Richards said the City of Pomona is in the process of revising its ordinance to read that animals should be confined inside a "living dwelling or garage."

Parks bond issue efforts stepped up

LA VERNE — The selling of a bond issue was intensified today as the parks and recreation commission announced plans to brief every voter in the city about the merits of the $970,000 proposal prior to the election Nov. 6.

The bond issue will appear on the ballot as Proposition W. A two-thirds majority is needed for passage.

The commission set up a speakers' bureau at its meeting Monday night and began making plans to give talks before such organizations the P.T.A.s, the Pop Warner League, the volunteer fire department, and civic groups.

Ray Kaldenbach, director of the parks and recreation department, said the proposal already has the backing of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, the membership of the Jaycees, and several other groups.

"We are now exploring every means of getting information about the bond issue to individuals," he explained. "We need what facilities the

Claremont panel will mull building conflict

CLAREMONT — The Architectural Commission Wednesday night will consider a staff recommendation to table action on a proposed storage building that may conflict with city regulations.

The building is proposed at 864 High Point Drive.

Planning Director Sharon Hightower in a memo to the commission said that it was discovered that the landscaped area north and west of High Point Drive, including the area where Clark Contractors proposes erecting the building, is within the city right-of-way. She said encroachment on a public right-of-way is not allowed except by special City Council permission.

The High Point Homeowner Association would like to have the building for storage of pool furniture and landscaping clippings.

In other matters, the commission will study a request by Whingdingdilly, in the processing of moving from The Village area to Griswold's Old School House. The store has requested approval of an existing 7-foot by 25-inch "soldier" as its permanent identification sign.

Andrew-California Corp. has requested review of architectural and site plans for a metal warehouse building at 947 Maryland Ave.

The 1,800-square-foot building would be used for storage, and would be in addition to a permanent and six temporary buildings on the property.

Pair sought in mart heist

ONTARIO — Police this morning were searching for two men, one a Negro the other a Caucasian, who robbed the Stop and Go Market at Sixth Street and Grove Avenue of a small amount of cash early Sunday.

Police said the two men, one armed with a .38 caliber stub-nosed revolver, entered the store about 2:15 a.m. and ordered the clerk Ernest Weathersby to hand over the money from the cash register and the safe. Weathersby complied, and the two men fled.

The Negro was described as being 30, 6 feet 2, 220 pounds, wearing a white "T" shirt, faded Levis, and a black leather coat. The Negro walked with a limp, according to the officers.

The Caucasian was described as being about the same age, with "very fuzzy" hair, wearing a red-orange plaid shirt, blue Levis, with a tattoo of a lady on his forearm and having an acne-scarred face.

The two robbers were thought to be driving a 1962 or 1963 beige Chevrolet.

So what do you do for a long hour?

The 1973 San Antonio League football season got off to a real standing start this past weekend.

But the people who attended the Gainesville-Upland game at Upland High Friday night took it sitting down. At least that's the position they took for an hour before the game actually started, which was an hour late.

What had happened at Upland rarely happens during the football season in high school competition.

There wasn't a single official in sight at game time.

So, for a little over an hour a good sized crowd of anxious, but bored, fans tried to find something to do.

The cheerleaders for both teams faced one of their toughest challenges of the year. They must have used up every cheer in the book—and then the game finally started.

When two officials were finally contacted, both teams went through their pre-game warm-ups again.

Just after the game got underway, two more officials showed. And then midway through the first quarter, two more made an appearance—and wouldn't you know it—then there were more officials than they needed. So two of them took over for the chain gang on the sidelines, with one of them being former Upland High head football coach and former Cal Poly assistant grid coach Jack Frost.

"I don't know what happened," Frost said. "I was lying on the couch watching TV when they called me."

The great search

Pat Bandy, Upland's athletic director, described how the search began for officials and how the problem became a problem to begin with.

"First we put out a call over the public address system at Upland High," he started. "We figured we could get two officials there. Then I went over to Bonita High where the Bonita-Alta Loma game was being held and asked the athletic director there if we could use one of his game's officials. He didn't go for it."

"So we put out a call over Bonita High's P.A. system," he continued. "We came up with one official, and he knew of one other. But I still wanted to make sure we had enough officials."

"We rushed back to Upland High in a police car under Code 3 (which means siren and red light in operation) and met another police car at the high school which had two more officials. One car took one of the guys home to get dressed, and we eventually ended up with six officials. We only needed four, so two of them worked on the chains."

"As it turned out," he added, "the game went pretty smooth afterwards and they did a good job."

Bandy and the other coaches involved played a waiting game for a half hour before the scheduled 8 p.m. start, and then pushed the panic button five minutes before game time.

"At 7:30 I started to get worried," Bandy said. "At a quarter to eight I figured they rode together and something happened. At 10 to eight I figured they weren't coming. And at five to eight we went into action."

The real question was how it all happened to begin with.

Bandy had to answer to that too.

"Last year when the schedule was sent in by our former athletic director Gerry Bell, there were a few question marks left on it," Bandy explained. "When Truck Lindsey, the area commissioner for officials, saw the question marks he gave Gerry a call. Gerry said he would get back to him, but he never did."

Bell took a one-year leave of absence this year, giving Bandy the position of athletic director again.

"This has never happened before," Bandy exclaimed, "not that I know of anyway."

So what really happened on that long Friday evening was that there were no officials assigned to the game.

Not the only ones

Upland wasn't the only field that had its problems during the SAL openers.

Chino and Garey fans almost were forced to watch the Cowboy-Viking game by candlelight when a set of Chino High's football field lights went out—along with the lights on the scoreboard.

And with three of the four SAL games turning into mild upsets, you can bet the rest of the season should be quite interesting.

"George told me before the game that if I win today, he would win tomorrow," said Koosman who pitched the Mets to a 9-2 victory and a 2-1 advantage in the best-of-five series. A win today would send New York into the World Series beginning Saturday in either Oakland or Baltimore.

Stone (12-3), the third straight left-hander to face the Reds, will be opposed by southpaw Fred Norman (13-13).

"It's Norman Tuesday and (Jack) Billingham Wednesday," said Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, confident of a Cincinnati win today that would force a fifth and final playoff game.

Rusty Staub, seemingly fully recovered from two seasons of various hand injuries, slugged two home runs, his second and third of the series, to back the eight-hit, nine-strikeout performance of Koosman.

However, the performances of both players was overshadowed by two fights on the field and the ugly actions of some in the crowd of 53,967 that included the throwing of empty whiskey bottles at Reds' leftfielder Pete Rose.

Rose, the fiery Reds' captain, and leading hitter in the NL this year with a .338 average, slid hard into Mets shortstop Bud Harrelson in the fifth inning, attempting to break up a double play. No sooner did Harrelson return the throw to first than he and Rose were battling each other on the ground.

Skies clear for A's, Birds today

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles and Oakland A's try again today to play the third game of the deadlocked American League championship series with Mike Cuellar and Ken Holtzman set once more as starting pitchers.

The third game originally was scheduled for Monday but persistent rain and a soggy field resulted in the game being called off 22 minutes before its 12:30 p.m. PDT starting time by AL President Joe Cronin.

Holtzman, a lefthander who won 21 games during the regular season, and Cuellar, a screwballer who won 18, were supposed to face each other Monday but both earned another day off and will go today instead.

The weather outlook is for clearing skies and a temperature in the 60s. The front which brought the first measurable rain in six months to the San Francisco Bay Area during the weekend moved eastward during the night, although it left a wet field behind in Oakland.

Santa Anita may open by Thursday afternoon

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — The president of a striking parimutuel employees union said after a union meeting Monday night there will probably be enough clerks on hand Thursday to open the Oak Tree meeting at Santa Anita racetrack.

The 21-day meeting was scheduled to open Saturday, but a walkout by members of the Local 280 of the Parimutuel Employees Guild of California has kept the track closed for the past three days—all scheduled racing days.

Today and Wednesday are "dark" days at the track, but Nicholas Daddario, Local 280 president, said his men would probably be back on the job Thursday.

"We laid it on the line to the men, and told them they had to go back to work, that there was no way they

Supernationals to be held again

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI) — The $200,000 Supernationals, the last of eight National Hot Rod Association major drag races this year, will be held Nov. 16-18 at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

The fourth annual event will be produced entirely by the NHRA this year.

Mets' third baseman Wayne Garrett jumped into the melee, signaling the emptying of both benches and bullpens. Right after Rose and Harrelson were separated, relief pitchers Buzz Capra of New York and Pedro Borbon of Cincinnati began swapping punches behind second base.

Nobody was ejected by the umpires but in the bottom of the fifth with New York's Felix Millan at bat and two out, Rose called time after he narrowly missed being hit by an empty whiskey bottle thrown by a fan in the upper leftfield stands.

At that point, Anderson pulled his players off the field and National League President Chub Feeney asked some of the Mets to walk out to left-field and talk to the fans in an attempt to calm them down.

"Feeney suggested we go out and talk to them," said Mets' Manager Yogi Berra, who along with Staub, Cleon Jones, Willie Mays and Tom Seaver, appealed to the crowd in left. "We told them we would have to forfeit the game if they continued throwing things," Berra added.

Anderson had his players return to their positions when order was finally restored a few minutes later but admitted, "I would have pulled them again if another object had come out. I don't think under any circumstances you should have a man out there who could get killed."

"I was trying to break up a double play," said Rose. "That doesn't mean I'm dirty. I'm a professional ballplayer, not a chorus girl."

At the time of the fights, the Mets already held their 9-2 lead thanks mainly to a solo blast by Staub in the first inning off loser Ross Grimsley and a three-run shot off reliever Tom Hall in the second inning that highlighted a five-run inning.

"We break out once in a while, too," grinned Berra. "I've always said good pitching beats good hitting in a short series."

Koosman, with only eight hits in 78 at-bats during the regular season, contributed to the Mets' attack with a pair of singles while driving in a run and scoring another. Wayne Garrett's sacrifice fly and run-scoring singles by Milner and John Milner accounted for the Mets' other runs.

Cincinnati, held to a total of two runs and eight hits for the first two games, appeared to rally in the third when Denis Menke homered and Joe Morgan singled home pinch hitter Larry Stahl to cut New York's lead to 6-2. But Koosman shut the door after that, limiting the Reds to three singles and a double over the final six innings.

The result left the Mets within one victory of gaining the second leg in their "Miracle of '73."

could continue to stay out," Daddario said.

"From the indication I received from the response of the men at the meeting, I believe they will report to work at Oak Tree on Thursday."

Daddario added he was served a temporary restraining order against the union walkout by a Superior Court judge. He said he felt a "majority" of the parimutuel employees would be back on the jobs Thursday, enabling the delayed meeting to open.

Union members have stayed off their jobs in support of three other union members who were not given jobs at Santa Anita because of their alleged involvement in a bookmaking ring. Charges against them were dismissed in a federal court, but the track management has refused to hire them.

Supernationals to be held again

It has been a joint venture of the association and the OMS since its inception in 1970.

The 1972 race produced the sport's first official five-second run for the quarter mile, a 5.91 effort by top fuel champion Don Moody of Los Angeles.

"It's too bad he had to get hurt at all," Fertig continued. "He was really coming on and playing well."

The 6-3, 249 pound offensive guard also has been highly complimented by McKay who calls Davis, "one of our best guards." Davis has seen heavy duty in relief of starter Bill Bain.

Another sophomore, Mike Cordell, 6-3 and 246 pounds, will replace Davis if he can't make it Saturday.

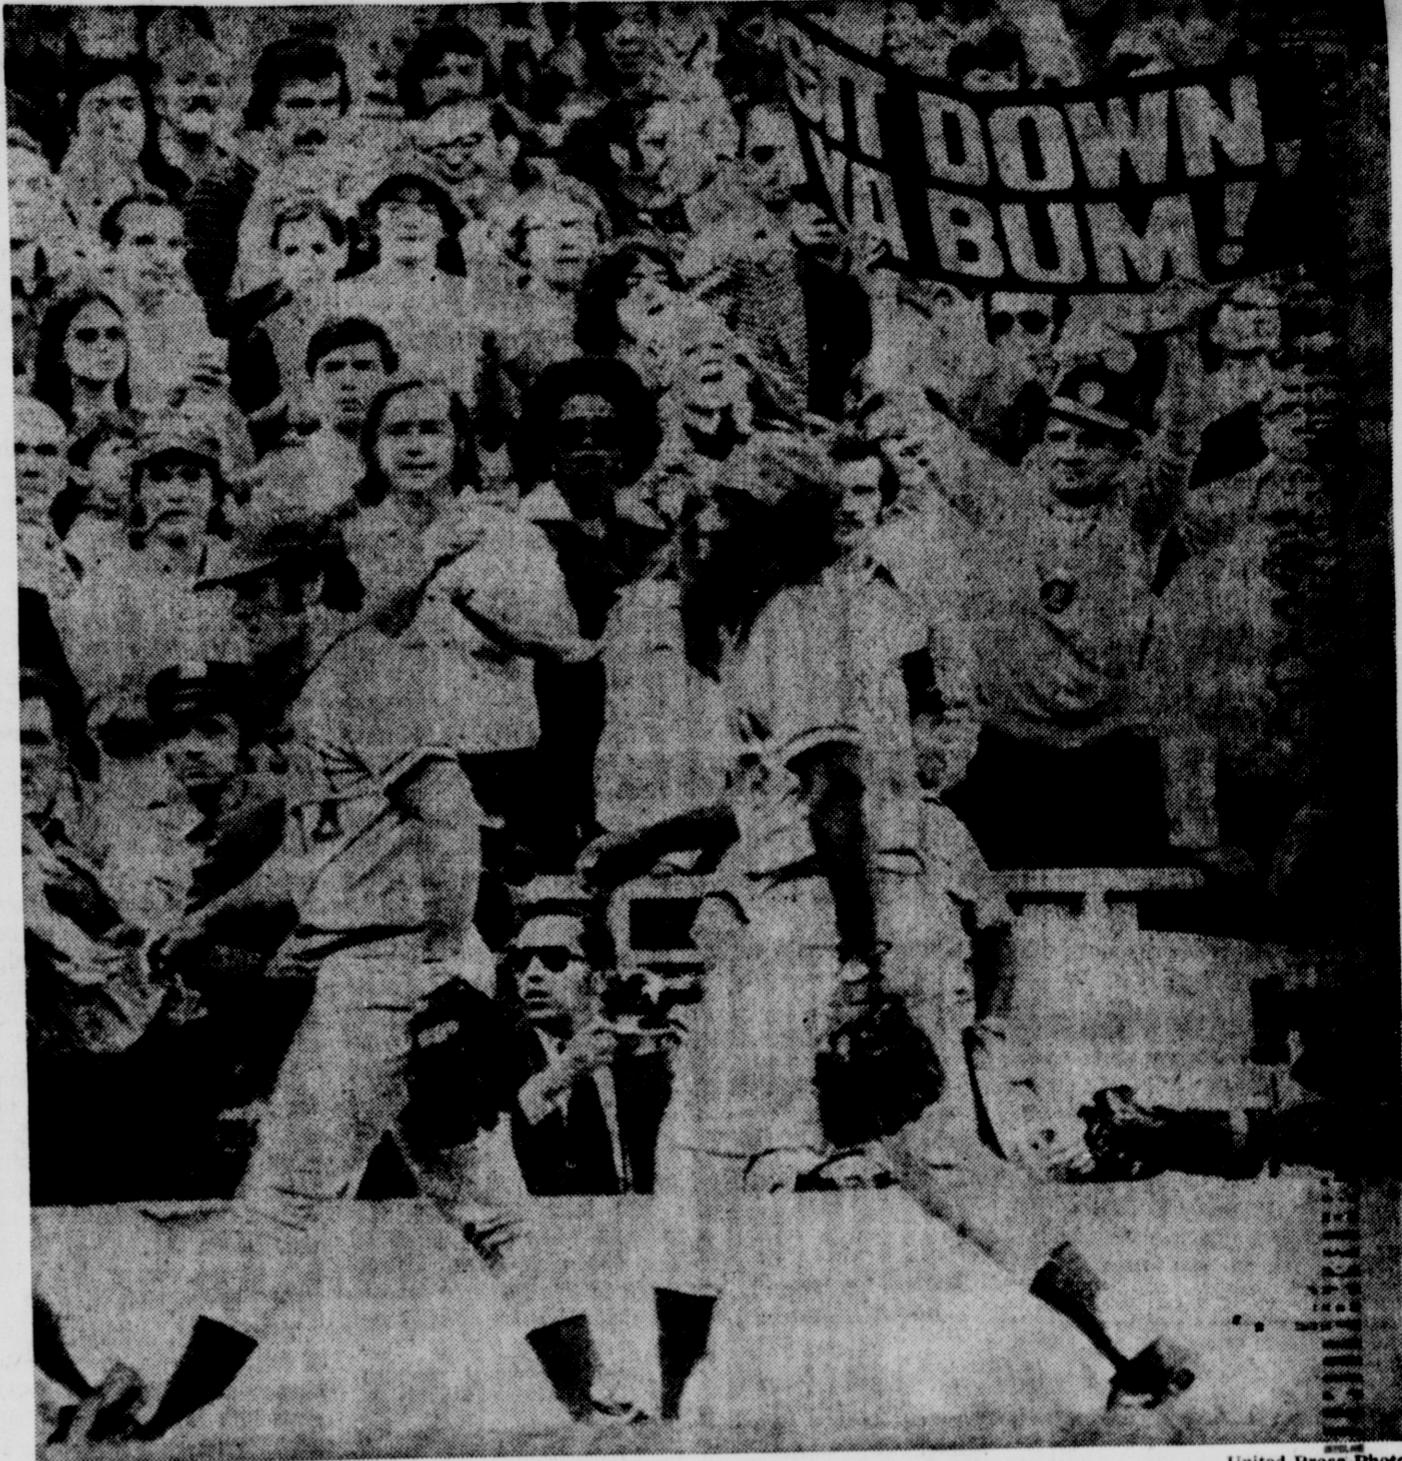

As for Washington St., Fertig reminded writers that the Cougars didn't

"We just kept him out of the rest of the game so that he wouldn't aggravate it," said Fertig. "He may be able to play against Washington State this week."

Fertig also had praise for sophomore Joe Davis from Claremont High. Davis suffered what was announced as a sprained knee. However the injury is not believed serious.

Houston saves Redskins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Free safety Brig Owens won it. Strong safety Ken Houston saved it.

That was the nutshell of the Washington Redskins' 14-7 victory over the previously unbeaten Dallas Cowboys in their nationally televised struggle Monday night which left the two archrivals tied for the National Football Conference Eastern Division lead with 3-1 records.

With 2:33 left to play and the score tied at 7-7, Owens picked off a Craig Morton pass and raced 26 yards into the end zone for the winning margin. With 15 seconds remaining, Houston halted Walt Garrison after a pass reception from Morton on Washington's one to end a desperate bid by the Cowboys for a tie.

"As soon as he threw it, I said 'this is me,'" Owens said of his game-winning interception. "I saw it all the way."

He raced untouched into the end zone to break the tie and most of the Redskin bench raced down the sideline to join in a jubilant celebration. Owens' TD came shortly after the Skins had

Johnson wins

Pac-8 award

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — UCLA halfback Kermit Johnson is the Pacific Eight Offensive Player of the Week after gaining 123 yards on just nine carries in the Bruins' 66-16 romp over Utah last Saturday.

He also scored two touchdowns as he moved into third spot on the all-time UCLA career rushing list.

Two players shared defensive honors and each performed in a 24-0 game.

Stanford linebacker Gordon Riegel led the Cardinals to a 24-0 win at Illinois as he made 17 tackles, deflected two passes, caused a fumble which set up Stanford's first touchdown, and sacked the Illinois quarterback on the last Illini play from scrimmage.

Reggie Lewis, Oregon tackle, played on the losing end of a 24-0 contest at tough Michigan, but he made 13 tackles and tackled Michigan runners three times for losses. Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler especially praised Lewis' performance after the game.

Washington blocked one Dallas punt and two field goal attempts. The Cowboys blocked two field goal efforts by Curt Knight.

Last year's conference rushing champion, Larry Brown, was held to 36 yards rushing on 18 attempts. The Cowboys tied the score on Sonny Jurgensen's one-yard pass to Charley Taylor.

But the Cowboys had one last shot when Mark Washington recovered an accidentally touched punt on the Washington 31 with 1:57 left.

Dallas reached first and goal on the Redskin four and after three Morton passes were incomplete, he threw to Garrison over the middle to the two and Garrison, a rodeo star in the off-season, bailed toward the goal line. Houston hit him solidly and stopped him at the one and the Redskins had the game.

"It was the biggest tackle I ever made," Houston said. "Morton pumped once, I stepped toward Garrison as he caught it and I brought him down."

The plays by Owens and Houston provided a fitting ending to a game which featured tremendous defense by both teams throughout the tense struggle.

Roger Staubach had passed Dallas to a 7-0 lead in the second period when Otto Stowe made a diving catch of his 15-yard pass in the end zone.

Jurgensen tossed his one-yard TD pass to Charley Taylor to tie the game with 3:30 left to play.

But everything else was defense. These were the evidences of the fierceness of it.

Staubach was sacked seven times for losses totalling 45 yards before giving way to Morton because of a slight charley horse. Jurgensen was dropped five times for losses of 37 yards.

Washington blocked one Dallas punt and two field goal attempts. The Cowboys blocked two field goal efforts by Curt Knight.

Coming out of nowhere this week to No. 11 was the one team which could prevent Southern California from even repeating in the Rose Bowl — UCLA.

The Bruins, who slaughtered Utah 66-16 last weekend, have apparently recovered from the 40-13 beating they took from Nebraska in the season opener.

Arizona State and Houston remained in their respective 12th and 13th positions and Missouri, which is turning out to be the surprise team of the year, moved up to 14th after knocking SMU from the ranks of unbeaten 17-7.

Teachers will meet parents at Emerson

POMONA — Emerson Junior High School will hold its Back-to-School Night Thursday at 7.

A short PTA business meeting will be held in the cafeteria with Mrs. John Yost presiding. Immediately following the meeting, the parents will visit classrooms and meet teachers.

Membership applications may be filled out in the cafeteria with Sylvia Stavros during the visit to the school.

Free immunization clinics scheduled

POMONA — The third in a series of four back-to-school free immunization clinics will be held at the Pomona Health Center Wednesday from 6 to 8 p.m.

Immunization will be offered against measles, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. Children must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

Safety Council's installation of officers slated

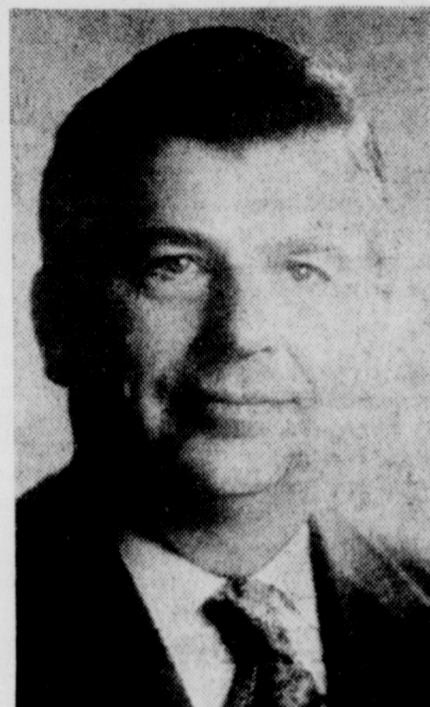

POMONA — Dick Soper of Southern California Edison Co. will be installed president of the Pomona Safety Council at a luncheon meeting Thursday at Orlando's.

Mayor Ray J. Lepire will be the installing officer.

Officers to be seated with Soper are Rudie Pieroth, vice president; Sue Kim, corresponding secretary; Frances Rodelo, recording secretary; and Eunice Parsons, treasurer.

I'm immediate past president Lew Greenman will report on progress made in industrial safety and future plans in that field.

Reservations may be made by calling Charlotte Wescott at 629-4864. Cost of the luncheon is $3.

EDWARD A. MYERS

Edison official takes post with United Crusade

Edward A. Myers Jr., vice president of the Southern California Edison Co., has been named public information chairman for the United Crusade in the San Gabriel-Pomona Valley Region.

The announcement was made by Robert P. Strub, regional campaign chairman. The public information section is a division of campaign support services.

Myers, whose office is in Southern California Edison's Rosemead facility, joined the company in 1964 as a marketing consultant and was elected a vice president two years ago.

He is past president and director of Electrical Industries Association, a director of Sales and Marketing Executives Association and a director of Junior Achievement.

Today is Leif Ericsson Day

Who discovered America?

If you're like most people, your answer will be "Christopher Columbus."

However, there are some others who believe differently.

They contend that the Norwegian explorer, Leif Ericsson, not Columbus, was the first European to set foot in the New World.

Today, they celebrate Ericsson's discovery. The observance comes one day after most Americans honored Columbus.

In 1964, Congress officially proclaimed Oct. 9 of each year as Leif Ericsson Day, in honor of the Viking explorer.

Ericsson is supposed to have discovered America in 1000, almost 500 years before Columbus landed in the West Indies.

There has been considerable evidence to support the claim of Ericsson's discovery. In 1964, Dr. Helge Ingstad found what is believed to be the site of the first camp of early Norwegians in Newfoundland. The discovery revealed many artifacts of Norwegian origin such as tools, apparatus for weaving, and cooking utensils.

Three years later, a Norwegian map of Vinland, their name for the new land, was discovered in a small shop in Switzerland and the findings published by Yale University. The map is believed to have been printed in 1300.

Reservations may be made by calling Charlotte Wescott at 629-4864. Cost of the luncheon is $3.

Preschoolers learn to play music by ear

POMONA — David Johnston, minister of music for the Assembly of God Church, has introduced the Suzuki technique of violin lessons to 15 youngsters attending the Arrow Highway Christian Preschool.

Johnston explained that the Suzuki method teaches violin by ear rather than by reading music. The method is taught to the Pomona students three to five free of charge.

The school has purchased mini-violins for their small musicians. Johnston is setting up the Suzuki classes for research in the musical development of the small child and as a part of his doctoral program at USC.

The Suzuki Violin School is named after Dr. Shinichi Suzuki, founder of the program in Japan, who is president of talent education in Japan. He developed the listen and play technique to prove that abilities are not inherited.

Johnston has been studying the Suzuki method for two years.

YMCA program designed as aid for youngsters

POMONA — The Pomona Valley YMCA has announced the hiring of a professional instructor to conduct its motor development class for children with special physical education needs.

Mrs. Heather Moore, 29, formerly a special education teacher in the Ontario-Montclair School District, will teach the new motor development class beginning Saturday.

The class is designed to build mental and physical self-confidence in the youngsters' ability to control their bodies.

Children from 6 to 12 who have perceptual difficulties or who are easily distracted because of hyperactivity or other problems can be enrolled in the class which will meet from 9:30 to 11 a.m. each Saturday for 10 weeks. The cost is $15 per child.

Instruction will be on individual basis, said Mrs. Moore, using the problem-solving approach to teaching. Gym activities and work with various types of equipment will be included.

For further information, persons may call the YMCA at 623-6433.

Y toddler program has room for more

DIAMOND BAR — The Diamond Bar-Walnut branch of the Pomona Valley YMCA has space available in its daily Y toddler program.

The branch offers both a morning and afternoon program Monday through Friday. Both sessions include daily craft activities or field trips and special events, with a weekly kidergym program on Fridays.

Cost of the morning program, which runs from 9:30 a.m. to noon, is $17 per month, while the 1 to 3 p.m. afternoon session is $15 per month.

Both sessions meet at the YMCA branch at 400 S. Brea Canyon Road in Diamond Bar.

For further information, persons may call the YMCA at 595-5015.

Sparked by Supreme Court ruling

Residency requirements loom for city employees

By TONY NAVARRO

B-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Two councilmen pressed Monday night for residency requirements for city employees in the wake of a state Supreme Court ruling that upheld Torrance's city charter provisions requiring municipal employees to become residents of the city in which they work.

Pomona is the only charter city in the Pomona Valley area. The others—such as San Dimas, Claremont, La Verne, Chino, Ontario, Montclair, Upland, Walnut and Industry—are general law cities.

Although the City Council took no action, it left the impression the matter would be reconsidered at a later date, possibly in a month when the court decision will have been final.

In the meantime, Mayor Ray J. Lepire asked the city staff to check with the three city employee associations for their views and to find out more details on the state high court's decision.

The residency requirements were discussed at the request of Councilman Adrian T. Wright, who said he has contended in the past that charter cities have the right to require residency as a condition for employment.

"If Pomona's a good place to work, it's also a good place to live. I think Pomona at this time needs that population back in Pomona," Wright said, referring to the number of city employees who have moved out of Pomona.

"I would like for us to look into the possibility of what we can do without pressing the panic button."

Wright received strong backing in his position from Councilman Ben Ochoa Sr., who said that although he does not know how many city employees live out of town, that residency requirements of some sort seem "imperative."

The court, in a unanimous decision Oct. 2, discounted the existence of a "right to commute" and rejected the argument that residency requirements infringe on constitutional guarantees.

The ruling was made in a case involving a charter provision of the City of Torrance requiring municipal employees to become Torrance residents within six months after being hired.

Los Angeles, Compton, Inglewood, Oakland and San Francisco had joined Torrance in the case.

Of some 400 cities in California, the vast majority are general law cities. More than 70 are charter cities, which are allowed by their charters to conduct municipal affairs with more independent authority than general law cities.

City Atty. Patrick Sampson pointed out that while residency requirements in some city charters are mandatory, the wording in the Pomona charter is discretionary.

The Pomona charter provides that, "as far as practicable, the council shall require that officers, deputies and employees of the city shall be or become residents of the city."

It is not known exactly how many of Pomona's more than 750 full-time municipal employees live out of the city, but a telephone survey Monday of city department and division heads indicates the percentage could be 50 percent or higher.

According to the city personnel office, residency has not been made a condition for employment in job announcements for quite a number of years.

New director named for Boys Republic

POMONA — Roy Ward has taken over as director of the Boys Republic residence, succeeding founding director Ed Keating.

Ward joined the residence staff in August as assistant director to train for the new position he would assume upon Keating's retirement in late September.

A retired Navy career man, Ward came to the staff of Boys Republic in February 1968 after a brief stint in the production lines of Brogden Co. in Pomona. He was promoted from his post as supervisor to counselor in September 1969. He assumed responsibilities as supervising counselor in May 1971 and remained in that post until the move to the residence.

A native of Wichita, Kan., Ward hopes to succeed in a "reintegration campaign" with the young referrals from the probation and social services departments to reorient them with life in the community.

"We want to help boys who are having trouble at home to develop skills in communicating with adults and parents; to become a problem-solving area for the individual so if he's having personal and family problems we can either completely take care of such or at least alleviate them so the kid can handle it," said Ward.

Ward is assisted at the residence by counselors Steve Bosworth and John Southwick and cook Mrs. Etta Caldwell.

Ward and his wife, Eileen, reside in Chino. They have three children, Mrs. Lani Short, 27; Roy Jr., 26, and James, 25.

Boys Republic is a school-farm community for delinquent boys located in Chino. The residence at 733 N. Garey Ave. is designed to help boys readjust to life in the regular community. Most of the boys at the residence attend a local high school and participate in community youth activity.

ROY WARD*UNIQUE INSTRUCTION

John Wheeler, 12, demonstrates one of the unusual tasks that will challenge children in the YMCA's motor development class beginning Saturday for 10 weeks. Helping the youngster get through a tire without using his hands is the YMCA's new instructor for the program, Mrs. Heather Moore.

Opinion

Viet veterans?
Is VA forgetting

After all of America's wars — until the middle of this century, anyway — Johnny has come marching home with flags flying and crowds cheering.

It was different after the Korean War, which was never officially a "war" but which at least had a definite beginning and a definite end — and far more different after the nation's most unpopular conflict of all.

Despite the ovation for some 600 Vietnam POWs, says the Carnegie Quarterly, a publication of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, "over the last decade the public has barely noticed 6 million ex-soldiers as they have returned from duty in a constant, though all but imperceptible trickle."

Often, they arrived home, invisible and anonymous, on a night flight from Vietnam. Always, they seemed to disappear before their existence could permeate the public consciousness.

Not only has the Vietnam veteran been ignored and forgotten, if not outright vilified, but according to some critics he has been shortchanged in veterans benefits, compared to the veterans of World War II or Korea.

This is particularly unfortunate because so many of those who bore the brunt of the fighting in Vietnam came from lower social and economic groups and were not lucky enough to be able to go to college and get a draft deferment. Their lack of education, or even incentive for education, continues to dog them—compounded, claim the critics, by an Uncle Sam who is not only stingy but is not doing all he could to encourage them to take advantage of what benefits they may be entitled to.

As it is, says the Carnegie Corporation, today's G.I. benefits are not comparable to those after World War II. Then, the government paid a veteran's tuition and also gave him a living allowance of $75 a month.

The single veteran in 1966 received $140 a month (raised to $175 in 1970 and $220 in 1972), but this had to cover tuition and books as well as living expenses.

As recently as last year, although more veterans were using their benefits, their participation was still 20 per cent lower than after World War II. Of 2.3 million Viet vets a Senate subcommittee recognized as "disadvantaged," only one in 25 is using his educational assistance benefits.

Yet the two periods cannot be strictly compared. The World War II G.I. Bill put a ceiling of $500 on tuition, books and supplies. The present single veteran's allowance of $220 a month comes to $1,980 for a school year and is almost three times the World War II allowance.

While $1,980 is little enough in view of what inflation has done to college tuitions and living costs, there is no limit on what a Vietnam veteran can earn on his own as there was for his World War II counterpart.

We also have to ask ourselves what the situation of these millions of socially disadvantaged men would be today had they never entered the service. Obviously, there would be even less likelihood of their obtaining educations or job skills.

Certainly, everything should be done to encourage and assist Vietnam veterans in using their benefits. But the opportunities, even if limited, are there for the taking.

Clothes make the career

Postmen, policemen, bus drivers and many other people have always worn distinctive, identifying clothing on the job.

In recent years, however, the idea has mushroomed to include bank clerks, door-to-door salesmen, car dealers, hotel personnel and even funeral directors.

Major corporations such as AT&T, Amtrak and Volkswagen have embarked on extensive programs to outfit their white-collar employees who deal regularly with the public.

The concept is growing so fast that it has resulted in the formation of a Career Apparel Institute, an offshoot of the uniform industry. But "career apparel" is definitely not uniforms. It is more like the smartly tailored outfits long worn by airline stewardesses, whose glamorous image has, in fact, been one of the factors responsible for the phenomenon.

Career apparel is a unified style of business attire that combines fashion and function while projecting a desired image for a company. In addition to building company identity, other advantages are cited:

—Career apparel enhances an employee's sense of being part of a professional team and upgrades his work performance; there is less employee turnover.

—It makes a company look more efficient to the public and identifies its employees as service people to customers.

—Because it must be better made, longer lasting and more comfortable on the job, career apparel copes with extremes of fashions.

—Employees like it because it solves the problem of "what to wear?" in the morning and consider it an extra fringe benefit, especially when the company pays all or part of the cost.

The outlook for career apparel is decidedly bullish. Estimates of the annual volume for the industry by the end of the decade range from $300 million to $700 million, rivaling or surpassing the traditional blue-collar work clothing market.

Hughes-Nixon mystery deepens

WASHINGTON — Senators would like to question two of America's most mysterious figures — phantom billionaire Howard Hughes and President Nixon's shadowy friend Bebe Rebozo — about their backdoor dealings.

The Senate Watergate Committee has been quietly checking into a column we wrote two years ago about the strange Hughes-Rebozo-Nixon relationship. Last week, the committee's crack investigator, Terry Lenzner, gave the senators his preliminary findings behind closed doors. Here's what he told them:

A Hughes henchman, Richard Danner, slipped $100,000 in $100 bills to Rebozo in two separate, $50,000 packages, which were delivered directly to the President's cross-country estates at Key Biscayne, Fla., and San Clemente, in 1969 and 1970.

The payments coincided closely with two government decisions favorable to Hughes. In June 1969 President Nixon approved the sale of Air West to Hughes. The following year, the Justice Department reversed an antitrust action which had barred Hughes from expanding his hotel-casino empire in Las Vegas.

Mitchell's announcement

A few weeks after the final $50,000 delivery was made, then-Attorney General John Mitchell brought Danner into his office and informed him of the favorable antitrust decision.

Lenzner's findings confirm, essentially, what we have written. The White House swore to us that President Nixon never received the $100,000. Danner swore the money was intended as a campaign contribution and was never mentioned to Mitchell. And Rebozo swore through an intermediary that has never misused any campaign money.

As Lenzner ticked off his findings at the closed-door meeting, Vice Chairman Howard Baker, R-Tenn., expressed quiet dismay. He would like to end the Watergate investigation, but new revelations keep bubbling up.

"If you can verify those facts," he told Lenzner, "we have a whole new can of worms." After the meeting, other Senators told us they would like to take testimony from both Hughes and Rebozo.

1956 connection

Nixon first got entangled with Hughes in December 1956 when the eccentric billionaire siphoned $205,000 from a political fund in Canada and loaned the money to Nixon's brother Donald. The loan was secured by a vacant family lot appraised at $13,000.

Noah Dietrich, a respected former Hughes executive, told us he tried to dissuade Richard Nixon from approving the loan. Dietrich said he flew to Washington to talk to Nixon, then Vice President, about the loan.

"I tried to discourage him," said Dietrich, "against taking this loan for his brother. I told him, 'You can't keep this quiet. Too many people know.' He told me, 'Noah, I have to consider my family ahead of my political career.'

A few weeks after Donald Nixon received the $205,000 loan, the Internal Revenue Service granted tax-exempt status to the Howard Hughes Medical Institute. Twice previously, the IRS had refused to treat the Institute as a nonprofit organization.

Curious Coincidence

By an interesting coincidence, IRS last year conducted an intensive tax investigation of Robert Maheu, who used to run the billionaire's Nevada operation but is now suing him.

Incredibly, two Hughes representatives, Chester Davis and Mickey West, had a ringside seat at an IRS interrogation. When Danner was questioned by IRS field agents Donald Skelton and Richard Lebar, the Hughes people were present.

Danner has admitted this in a disposition that hasn't yet been made public by the court.

"Mr. Chester Davis and Mr. Mickey West were present," testified Danner, "during the investigation . . ."

Damaging testimony

"Who," asked Maheu's attorney, Morton Galane, "was being investigated?"

"Mr. Robert Maheu," said Danner.

"And Chester Davis was there and you said nothing, and you were giving testimony against Robert Maheu? Is that what you're testifying to, Mr. Danner?" asked the attorney.

"That was substantially the situation," said Danner.

If your neighbor beats his wife

With firsthand knowledge of and some experience with Jewish persecution, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger nonetheless asks Congress to "look the other way" when formulating policy with Russia.

Is it your business when your neighbor beats his wife? The Wall Street Journal is an unlikely place to expect policy to be defined in parables, yet recently, and usefully, it resorted to this one:

Two men living on a remote island feuded for years. Whenever either would cross over into the family domain of the other, the other would feel threatened and knives would be drawn.

Unhappily, the island's best freshwater spring was in the no man's land between the feuding families; however, no member of either family dared drink from its waters. There came a long drought. Other springs on the island dried up. The lives of both families were threatened.

So—while eyeing one another suspiciously—the heads of the two families approached one another under flags of truce and managed to negotiate an understanding allowing both families to use the waters from the spring.

Indeed, they agreed to join forces to clean out the spring; further, to encourage its flow. And so—though either or both of the families might have perished without that water—there was plenty for both and both families prospered.

Learning that they could work together encouraged the idea that the longstanding feud had derived from a misunderstanding; apparently the other fellow was not so evil as had been imagined.

But the one night there was the sound of sobbing, then screaming from "over there." That other fellow was beating his wife. And frequently in the days and nights that followed, the wife beating was overheard.

Now what does the peaceable family do; especially when the terrorized children of the abused family during visits to the spring plead with their eyes, if not with their lips, for rescue?

What does the peaceable man do? He's always felt that quarrels within another family were none of his business.

He knows that if he antagonizes the brutal man, their agreement may collapse, their water supply may be sacrificed and all will die.

Yet if those beatings within that other family reflect the true nature of that fellow, will not the agreement likely collapse eventually anyway? A hundred philosophers could wrestle for a hundred years seeking a happy solution to this dilemma.

Yet right now the United States is trapped on an island in space with a Soviet antagonist who is neither just nor merciful to some of his own people.

Recent experience has taught us the impossibility of trying to make others over in our own image. An official crusade against wife beating would serve no useful purpose. But unofficially, American revulsion over that kind of misconduct might deter the beaters. But only if we are, ourselves, above reproach in that respect.

Carl Schurz Association

It was both a surprise and a pleasure to find among your editorials a tribute to Carl Schurz. There is a National Carl Schurz Association (339 Walnut St. Philadelphia, Pa. 19106), which promotes American-German friendship, but I had thought that the name of Schurz was never known to or forgotten by most Americans.

Gen. Schurz was one of the leaders in the revolutions in Germany about 1848. I know about him because my great-grandfather, one Adam Gettman, was a fighter with Schurz in Germany, and escaped a death sentence only through luck. After Schurz came to the United States, and was commissioned a Major General by President Lincoln, my great-grandfather served under Schurz, getting to the exalted rank of Sergeant. I still remember my grandfather telling me that just before he died, his father had risen on his bed to cry: "Never will I surrender to this cruel government!"

The parallel with Dr. Kissinger is apt, but I think that no other newspaper will approve him, and at the same time remember Carl Schurz. Good for you! — Winn F. Zeller, Claremont.

Christmas is Christ

Christmas is a religious holiday. When you leave "Christ" out it is not Christmas. It would thrill non-believers to no end to just have a Santa Claus holiday of giving gifts with no "Christ" it to think about.

We have too many Madeline Murrys now. Why leave Christ out of anything? We believers are still the majority in this country. Christmas is Christ — so why leave Him out of the day set aside to remember His birth. — Mrs. R. E. Lunneborg, Pomona.

J. K. (DOC) PEIRSON

Gossip for today

It is gratifying to learn that while most of our Senators are either taking polls, appointing committees or holding hearings to determine which way the political wind is blowing and what they should do about it, California's Senator Tunney decided to get his own information. With rare courage and fortitude, he announced that for two weeks he would spend only $1.25 a day on food in order to learn first hand how the other half is managing to survive.

In these trying times supreme sacrifices such as that revive one's faith not only in democracy but also in a politician's ability to get his name and face in the nation's newspapers and on the TV networks despite the competition of Watergate and rumors of a Vice Presidential resignation. It is that kind of dedication which truly indicates the greatness of our American political leadership.

INSIDE REPORT

Nixon, Agnew near open war

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The intensity of anti-Nixon feeling now beating in the collective breast of many backers of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew can best be gauged by the fact that his brass-knuckle attack on Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen was really aimed at Richard M. Nixon.

"Agnew," one informed Republican says, "wasn't hunting such small game as Petersen. Petersen was simply his stand-in for Nixon."

Evidence in support of that contention is considerable, but one fact, unpublished until now, stands above all others: Agnew had vainly made a private but extremely vigorous appeal to President Nixon himself precisely along the lines of his later public attack on Petersen before the Republican women in Los Angeles.

But the President flatly rejected the Vice President's private appeal in dealing with highly disabling leaks that Agnew said were coming from Petersen and his aides. When Agnew repeated virtually the same attack Sept. 29 — this time with maximum publicity and before a rabidly pro-Agnew partisan audience — the real target was not Petersen but the President.

Thus, the Vice President — admittedly near the end of the political road — harbors deep-seated hostility toward the President which could erupt dangerously. Partly to minimize that danger, Mr. Nixon tried to make clear in his unexpected press conference last week that he is not trying to hound Agnew out of office. That dampened the immediate prospect of open conflict, but scarcely brought true peace.

Nixon responds to heat

In telling his press conference that Agnew's decision not to resign if indicated is "proper," Mr. Nixon was responding to intense heat from Agnew's political supporters in the Republican party. But Mr. Nixon, perhaps intentionally ambiguous, left unclear whether he thought Agnew's decision is correct for the country as well as "proper" for Agnew. And he certainly did not endorse the Vice President's attacks on Petersen and the Justice Department investigation.

Indeed, assuaging emotional Agnew supporters firmly convinced that the White House has been trying to engineer Agnew's resignation may be wholly beyond the President's power, whatever he says. Suspicions grow of nefarious White House dealings against Agnew, even if always denied.

Take, for example, the curious, even exotic, trip (financed by tax money) of two top White House aides to Phoenix, Ariz., on Sept. 14 for secret discussion about the Agnew affair with Sen. Barry Goldwater. Goldwater, the most respected Republican party elder, has made no effort to dissemble his strong repugnance for the way Mr. Nixon has handled the Agnew affair and has stoutly defended Agnew.

So, on Sept. 14, following earlier telephone talks with the Senator in Washington, presidential counselor Bryce Harlow and assistant White House counsel Fred J. Buzhardt, Jr., were dispatched to Phoenix in late afternoon with documents purporting to "prove" that (as Petersen has been quoted as saying) the prosecutors had the evidence "cold" on Agnew.

Principals won't talk

None of the three principals in that extraordinary 90-minute session in Goldwater's hilltop home will talk about it. Other informed sources, however, told us it was perfectly obvious what Harlow and Buzhardt wanted, whether or not they specifically asked for it: to convince Goldwater of Agnew's guilt in the conspiracy and bribery charges and thus end his public

400 neighbors bid farewell to pal-postman Jerry

By J. LANGE WINCKLER
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Jerry Kubik is setting up the place kick. He's 60, his thinning red hair uncovered by helmet, no face guard over the lines left by years of smiles and a few worries. Holding the ball is a kid maybe 12 years old, whose diapers Jerry changed years ago.

He finishes the conference, trots away, turns, and after a few quick steps, boots the ball downfield. Kubik stays in for two plays after some 8-year-old returns the kick, then hustles to the sidelines. "That's enough," he says over cries from a crowd of little boys who want his to stay in the game.

Jerry Kubik's not an adored athlete. He's not even the mail carrier he used to be for 9½ years in the lower Collegewood area. Today he's just Jerry, a guy loved by everyone in the area. As in the football game, he took the sidelines Sept. 28 when he resigned for health reasons from the postal service, saying, "That's enough."

Big party

More than 400 residents of the 16 streets he served near Mt. San Antonio College over the years turned out Sunday to say goodbye to Jerry. "There's no sadness at all," said Judy Skraba, who helped arrange the afternoon party at Collegewood Elementary School.

"I kind of look at Jerry as a unifying factor in our neighborhood. He's touched everyone's life here. He's helped give us a real hometown feeling."

"Jerry's just a delightful, one-of-a-kind character. We just care very much about him, and we're going to miss him. Members of the Collegewood group are like part of his family — and Jerry's part of our family."

Folks in Collegewood over the years have not only received their mail through his "super" services, they have had visits from Jerry and his wife, Billie, when someone in the home was sick, or needed some special attention. Children in the community have grown up with him, seeing Jerry's face soon after they were born, hearing his gravelly voice in their classrooms at Collegewood, getting advice about boyfriends and girl friends, playing with him when he walked by.

Sent cards to ill

"If anyone was sick, they got cards and cookies from Jerry," said Mrs. Peggy Davis, postmistress of the Walnut post office where he worked. "He always carried stamps in case someone needed them, and he often would take packages from people, weigh them and find out how much postage was needed, then bring it back so they could pay for it."

"He said if he ever had to leave this route it would be like leaving his family. He loves these people."

And "these people" love Jerry, too. About three weeks ago, when word got around that he would be moving back to his home state of Indiana, plans for the party "just sort of sprang into being," according to Mrs. Skraba.

A chairman on each of the 16 streets on his route worked to collect funds for an assortment of farewell gifts, while Mrs. Skraba and Carol Rossetti headed up the project. Marge Johnson and Shirley Briss were co-treasurers, banking collections in a special short-term account arranged by an area bank. Judy Deal and Collette Parker arranged for donated refreshments, Mrs. Sue Stone cajoled her husband into printing flyers announcing the party — which were not mailed, but delivered door to door. Sue Hill prepared a special guest book, engraved in gold: "To Jerry with love." She took it around to families who could not attend and got their signatures ahead of time.

Big, happy family

Billie Kubik, wearing a corsage given her for the party, gave the community credit for drawing out Jerry's goodness. "It's the people here, they're just grand," she remarked. "We're just like one big happy family." Married 40 years, the Kubiks have one son,

LAST KICKOFF

Toe touches pigskin, and the game is begun! Jerry Kubik gave the kids in the lower Collegewood area of Walnut a kick when he played football with them on the playground at Collegewood School during a farewell party Sunday. Kubik is leaving the area after 9½ years as postman there.

before taking his route in Collegewood on July 4, 1963.

Kubik is leaving the place where he wore out two sets of heels a month, maybe a dozen pair of shoes or more a year. He used to break his routine to go early to some homes where sons, husbands or other relatives were worried over the war to deliver their letters from Vietnam.

He returns to Indiana, "somewhere near Valparaiso" says his wife, to take up some other work and rest his back and legs, which gave him such trouble he felt he had to quit.

"I'm not retired," said Jerry, "I'm just tired."

Square dancing will be held in the Student Center; all other classes will be held in Room 7, Bldg. 21.

Program for gifted will be expanded

WALNUT — An expanded program of enrichment classes for mentally gifted children will begin on the Mt. San Antonio College campus Nov. 5. Registration for the popular program is in progress with an deadline of Oct. 19.

Thirty-eight classes will be offered this fall with a total possible enrollment of 600 students. Classes last year filled rapidly so early registration is strongly advised. Students from first grade through senior high may enroll.

Class subjects include astronomy, mathematics, languages, magic, music, seeds and plants, writing and typing, and many more. Many courses have been added this year especially for the junior and high school students.

"The vast Spanish-speaking population of this area is an important public to Blue Cross of Southern California," Kirkpatrick said. "We consider ourselves fortunate to have someone of Mrs. Mendizabal's capabilities on our staff."

In her new role she will serve as liaison between Blue Cross and Spanish-American news media, Kirkpatrick explained.

In addition she will be responsible for speaking engagements before civic, business, school and religious groups to discuss the Blue Cross concept of health care and its financing, he said.

Mrs. Mendizabal and her husband, are parents of a six-month-old daughter. She holds a bachelor's degree in Spanish literature and a master's in Spanish-American studies from Cal State Los Angeles.

Manuel,

Further information on the program may be obtained by calling Mrs. Judy Mercer, 626-6944. Mrs. Betty Tsiliadas, 595-4646 or Mrs. Dorothy Spadier, (213) 331-8883 between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily.

ALL TIED UP

A shy lass gets a lesson in how to tie a bow. Jerry Kubik no sooner got the ribbon tied on the front of her dress than she untied it, and asked him to "do it again."

Change in rural zone on Walnut council agenda

WALNUT — City Council members will spend some time Wednesday evening on a rural overlay zone amendment they sent to the city Planning Commission last April.

Traffic matters also will come before the council in the meeting at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. An ordinance proposing lower speed limits on Lemon and Grand avenues is due for consideration, as is a set of plans and specifications for revising the intersection of Pierre and Carrey roads at Valley Boulevard.

Moving to the end of a long discussion in city agencies about the rules Walnut will impose on homeowners who keep horses on their property, the council picks up a recommended amendment to the city's existing rural overlay zone. The zone is imposed on a residential area with special regulations about size of lots, numbers of animals, pest control and the like.

Presently one area in central Walnut is under a rural overlay zone, and a number of persons in West Walnut would like to also have the privilege of keeping horses at their homes. The amending of the current zone law would reduce minimum lot sizes to make it more possible to apply an overlay in the area.

The issue is a couple of years old, but brewed to a head early this year when an ad-hoc citizens' committee appointed by the council and a counter committee of other citizens offered conflicting plans for revising the overlay zone. Planning commissioners last month heard a final draft compiled from the reports and sent it on with revisions to the council.

Speed limits occupied council time last month when a proposal to lower the limit on Leon Avenue from Valley Boulevard to its end was raised. At that time, the council asked to initiate an additional proposal to cut down speeds on Grand Avenue. The combined proposal is returning to the council Wednesday.

For some time the city has been concerned over the structure of the intersection of Carrey and Pierre roads at Valley. Neither street approaches Valley at a 90-degree angle, and they cross each other a few yards before their terminus at Valley.

Additionally, businesses at opposite corners of the intersection generate a number of turns by autos in the difficult traffic pattern. City staff reports will offer a plan to revise the location to improve the orderly flow of traffic.

Other agenda items include:

A proposed revision of a joint agreement with the Walnut Valley Unified School District to provide recreation services and programs. The city and school district are considering a formal agreement which would give the schools responsibility for the program, with the city contributing its share of finances and facilities.

Requests from the March of Dimes and the Muscular Dystrophy Association to conduct fund-raising programs in the city without paying business license fees.

LIFE AND BREATH COUPONS

Dr. Richard J. Lescoe, left, accepts some 74,000 Betty Crocker coupons from Mrs. David Sprong, center, and Mrs. Carr H. Dietz, both of La Puente, collected in the San Gabriel and Pomona valleys. The coupons will be traded in for funds to purchase an additional breathing machine for the Los Angeles County Lung Association. Dr. Lescoe is president of the association, formerly known as the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. The collections were made by women's and service clubs as well as individuals to enlarge the supply of machines loaned cost-free to respiratory disease sufferers.

TODAY'S Women

Mr. and Mrs. Goetz residing in La Verne

San Secondo D'Asti Catholic Church in Guasti was the setting for the marriage of Miss Jane Elizabeth Farris and William Glenn Goetz.

The Rev. Emil J. Melee performed the late-afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Farris of Upland. The groom is the son of Mrs. Josephine Goetz of Claremont and the late Siegfried Goetz.

An empire A-line gown of satin de peau and cotton vine lace was worn by the bride. The high neckline, Camelot sleeves and cathedral-length train were edged in lace. Matching lace formed the headpiece which held the bride's veil.

She carried a cascade of daisy mums, white carnations, baby's breath and tiny pink roses.

Mrs. Rosanne McCormick was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Eileen Farris, Miss Sandee Downs, Miss Lois Rodriguez, Miss Janet Meredith and Mrs. Rebecca Woolerton.

Kelly McCormick and Michelle McCormick were flower girls.

JAMES GOETZ was best man. Ushers were Terry Woolverton, Gary Wurtz, Robert Martin, Dwight McCormick and Gareth Goetz.

A dinner at Griswold's Indian Hill honored the couple.

Among the special guests from New York were Mr. and Mrs. James McMahon and Son, James, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McMahon.

After a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe and Reno, the newlyweds will reside in La Verne.

Actor shows educators on deep subject

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. Myron L. Fox stepped to the podium and, with a winning smile, began a one-hour lecture on "The Application of Mathematics to Human Behavior," spicing the subject with anecdotes and humor.

The University of Southern California audience was made up of educators with degrees ranging up to Ph.D. They nodded sage agreement as Fox went through the intricacies of his subject matter.

When the learned lecturer had concluded and gone through a question and answer period, his listeners filled out a questionnaire rating Fox on his performance. Almost all were glowing in praise.

"Excellent presentation." "Extremely articulate." "Good analysis of subject." "Did not carry it out far enough for me."

One educator disagreed. "Too intellectual," he criticized.

It came as no satisfaction some weeks later for the educators to learn that Fox was a little known Hollywood character actor with not the faintest knowledge of his topic who had been coached to deliver the lecture by two professional colleagues.

The lecturer...had been coached to present his topic and conduct his question and answer period with an excessive use of double talk, neologisms, nonsequiturs and contradictory statements," said a treatise in the journal of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

"All this was to be interspersed with parenthetical humor and meaningless references to unrelated topics."

The experiment was carried out by Dr. Donald H. Natfuslin, a USC associate professor of psychiatry; Dr. John E. Ware, assistant professor of medical education at the University of Illinois, and Frank A. Donnelly, an instructor in psychiatry at USC.

The experiment drew two conclusions:

Educators must guard against the danger that a personal presentation may result in satisfying students but not educating them.

Study might be given to using actors as lecturers so long as they presented solid subject matter.

The treatise noted that even after some of the educators were made aware of the hoax their reactions "ranged from curiosity to disbelief" while some insisted "Dr. Fox" still "stimulated interest in the subject matter."

SINGING STAR — Rouvaun, popular television and concert hall singer, will perform with the West End Symphony Orchestra, opening its 12th season with a concert in Spring Auditorium, Chaffey High School, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Rouvaun made her debut at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas in 1967.

Rouvaun to perform in Ontario

ONTARIO — Rouvaun, singing star of concert halls, night clubs and television, will perform with the West End Symphony Orchestra which opens its 12th season with a concert in Spring Auditorium, Chaffey High School, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Backing Rouvaun will be the 21-voice Chaffey College Concert Ensemble directed by Joyce Shannon.

This is Rouvaun's third appearance with the local symphony. His two previous performances were sellouts.

Rouvaun became an overnight sensation in 1967 when, on six hours' notice, he stepped into a starring role in the Casino de Paris show at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas. Since then he has made international tours, recorded six albums for RCA and headlined numerous shows at leading hotels.

Keith Moon, founder-director of the University of Nevada Chamber Symphony Orchestra, will conduct the 60-piece West End Symphony, standing in for the regular director, Robert Walton Cole, who has been named associate conductor of the Buffalo, N.Y. Symphony.

The orchestra will play Mozart's overture to "The Impresario," a medley from the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "The King and I," and a Jimmy Webb medley including "Didn't We?" and "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

Rouvaun will give a program ranging from opera to pops, including arias, ballads, novelty numbers, religious selections and folk songs.

Tickets to the concert are reserved. They are on sale for $3, $4 and $5 at Liberty and Mutual agencies Golden Circle tickets at $8.50 include an invitation to a reception for Rouvaun after the concert. Further information can be obtained at 982-1595.

VCT to present musical comedy

POMONA — A double cast of 35 actors, singers and dancers has been chosen for the Valley Community Theater production of "Oliver!" opening Nov. 1.

Doug Romney will direct the London and Broadway hit musical adapted from Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist."

Roger Castellano of Pomona and Stephen Gassner of Claremont will alternate in the lead part of Oliver, the orphan. Roger played the role in the La Verne College production last year.

Michael Immel of Orange and Jerry O'Connor of West Covina star as Fagin, the gang leader. Immel, a student at Chapman College, took the part in an Orange County production. O'Connor teaches at Nogales High School.

Nancy, the female lead, will be portrayed by Lynda Hershey of West Covina and Karen Russikoff of La Verne.

Miss Hershey starred in the VCT productions of "Little Mary Sunshine" and "Dames at Sea." Miss Russikoff, a former member of the Young Americans, has studied at the Pasadena Playhouse.

Other leads are taken by Lori Blackwell of La Verne and Scott Poindexter of San Dimas as the Artful Dodger; Dee Dee Jernigan of Pomona, Bet; Terry Lee Engle of Azusa, Mr. Bumble; Martha Palmer Fuller of Claremont and Karen Waltrip of Chino Widow Corney; and Glenn Corner of Cucamonga, Bill Sykes.

Others in the cast are Nedra Troutman, Mack Gilliland, Frank Kohel, Rosemary Jernigan, Carol Hendrix, Scott Adams, David Spencer, Nanci Feldman, Nancy Puttuff, Carol Spencer and Jodie Miller, Pomona; Rick Huffine, Beth Huffine and Kathy Huffine, Claremont; Maria Phillips, William Blanco and Erich Pierson, Ontario; Christopher and Kim Waldrip, Chino; Jeryl Geary, Rowland Heights; Mike Belongie, La Puente, and Joanne Mulrooney, Alhambra.

VCT is currently presenting "Butterflies Are Free" at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights. Reservations for both shows can be made by calling 622-6954.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
ZONING CASE NO. 6520-1 AND
GENERAL PLAN AMENDMENT 6-9-1, PROPOSED
CHANGE OF OFFICIAL ZONING
PLAN OF THE SAN JOSE
ZONED DISTRICT AND OF AN AMENDMENT TO THE GENERAL
PLAN OF LOS ANGELES
COUNTY

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Regional Planning Commission on a proposed amendment of Section 332 of Ordinance No. 6520-1 making changes in the official zoning plan of the San Jose Zoned District No. 21 established by Ordinance No. 6112 on December 9, 1952 and/or to amend the General Plan of the San Jose City as it was adopted by the Board of Supervisors on June 28, 1973. Said hearing will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 30, 1973, at 9:30 a.m. in Room 150, Hall of Records, 320 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 900012.

The Regional Planning Commission will hear testimony on proposals that either the zoning of the subject area be changed from R-3-8,000-25U (Multiple Residential)-8,000 square feet required to a R-3-8,000-15U (Multiple Residential)-6,000 square feet required area-15 units per acre) on a permanent basis, or that the General Plan be amended so as to permit the R-3-8,000-25U zoning to remain in effect by deleting the subject property U-5 (High Density Residential) on the Land Use Element.

The property, under consideration, presently designated Medium Density in the General Plan of Los Angeles County, is an irregularly shaped 70 acre parcel located easterly of Golden Springs Drive between the Pomona Freeway and Temple Avenue. The Commission may recommend such other changes or amendments to the General Plan as may be necessary to assure that the Zoning Ordinance and the General Plan will be consistent as required by Section 6586 of the Government Code and which will be in the interest of public health, safety and general welfare, within the following described area: On the north by the city of Pomona; on the east by the city of Pomona; on the south by the Pomona Freeway; and on the west by Golden Springs Drive and the easterly lot lines of tracts 27535 and 27336.

Maps showing the proposed amendment may be inspected by the public in the office of the Commission, Room 300, Hall of Records, 320 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. Phone: 974-6644.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can guess up on what you say. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address

Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. Don't Leave Home On The Days You Advertise

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
ZONING CASE NO. 6521-1
AND OR GENERAL PLAN
AMENDMENT 76-1 ZONING
CASE NO. 6522-1 AND OR GEN-ERAL PLAN AMENDMENT
ZONING CASE NO. 6523-1
AND OR GENERAL PLAN
AMENDMENT 76-3 PROPOSED
CHANGE OF OFFICIAL ZONING
PLAN OF THE SAN JOSE
ZONED DISTRICT AND OR AN AMENDMENT TO THE GENERAL
PLAN OF LOS ANGELES
COUNTY.

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Regional Planning Commission on proposed amendment of Section 332 of Ordinance No. 1494, thereby making changes in the official zoning plan of the San Jose Zoned District, No. 21, established by Ordinance No. 6112, December 9, 1968, to amend the General Plan of Los Angeles County as it was adopted by the Board of Supervisors on June 28, 1973. Said hearing will be held on Tuesday, October 10, 1973, at 10:30 A.M. in Room 150, Hall of Records, 320 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012.

On Z.C. 6521-1, the Regional Planning Commission will hear testimony on proposals that either the zoning of the subject area be permanently changed from R-1-8,000 (Single Family Residence, 10,000 sq. ft. minimum lot area) to R-1-25,000 (Single Family Residence, 25,000 sq. ft. minimum lot area) or that the General Plan be amended so as to permit the R-1-8,000 zoning to remain in effect by designating the subject property as U4 (Medium High Density) on the Land Use Element.

On Z.C. 6522-1, the Commission will hear testimony on proposals that either the zoning of the subject area be permanently changed from R-1-8,000 (Single Family Residence, 10,000 sq. ft. minimum lot area) to R-3-15U (Limited Multiple Residence, 20 units per acre) or that the General Plan be amended so as to permit the R-3-20U zoning to remain in effect by designating the subject property as U4 (Medium High Density) on the Land Use Element.

On Z.C. 6523-1, the Commission will hear testimony on proposals that either the zoning of the subject area be permanently changed from R-3 (Limited Multiple Residence) to R-3-15U (Limited Multiple Residence, maximum 15 units per acre) or that the General Plan be amended so as to permit the R-3 zoning to remain in effect by designating the subject property as U2 (Low Density) on the Land Use Element.

On Z.C. 6521-1, the Commission will hear testimony on proposals that either the zoning of the subject area be permanently changed from R-1-8,000 (Single Family Residence, 10,000 sq. ft. minimum lot area) to R-1-25,000 (Single Family Residence, 25,000 sq. ft. minimum lot area) or that the General Plan be amended so as to permit the R-1-8,000 zoning to remain in effect by designating the subject property as U2 (Low Density) on the Land Use Element.

On Z.C. 6523-1, the Commission will hear testimony on proposals that either the zoning of the subject area be permanently changed from R-3 (Limited Multiple Residence) to R-3-15U (Limited Multiple Residence, maximum 15 units per acre) or that the General Plan be amended so as to permit the R-3 zoning to remain in effect by designating the subject property as U4 (Medium High Density) on the Land Use Element.

Z.C. 6521-1 is a rectangular shaped 10 acre parcel located south of Grand Avenue and along the northwest boundary of Diamond Bar Boulevard. Z.C. 6522-1 is presently designated U1 (Very Low Density) and is an irregularly shaped 3.5 acre parcel located west of Acacia Hill Road and north and east of Diamond Bar Boulevard. Z.C. 6523-1 is presently designated U3 (Medium Density), is an irregularly shaped 4 acre parcel located along the northwest boundary of Diamond Bar Boulevard and along the northern boundary of Pathfinder Road. The Commission may recommend such other changes of zone and/or amendments to the General Plan in order to keep the zoning consistent with the General Plan as required by Section 65860 of the Government Code and which will be in the interest of public health, safety, and general welfare within the described areas.

Z.C. 6521-1 is bounded as follows:

on the north by the adjacent C-4 zoning, on the east by Diamond Bar Boulevard, and on the south and west by the adjacent R-1-8,000 zoning. Z.C. 6522-1 is bounded on the east by Acacia Hill Road, on the southeast by Diamond Bar Boulevard, and the northeast boundary of R-3 zoning, on the west by the eastern boundary of R-1-8,000 zoning, and on the north by a line parallel to and 3,000 ft. from Diamond Bar Boulevard. Z.C. 6523-1 is bounded on the north and east by the adjacent R-1-8,000 zoning, on the southeast by Diamond Bar Boulevard, and on the southwest by Pathfinder Road.

Maps showing the proposed amendments may be inspected by the public in the office of the Commission, Room 1354, Hall of Records, 320 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. Phone 626-4464.

By order of the Regional Planning Commission, County of Los Angeles, State of California.
